Regional Defense Combating Terrorism Fellowship Program

Fiscal Year
2007

Report to Congress

This report is presented by the Department of Defense in accordance with Title 10 of the United States Code, section 2249c

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report is presented by the Department of Defense (DoD) in accordance with Title 10 of the United States Code, section 2249c.

The Regional Defense Combating Terrorism Fellowship Program (CTFP) is a security cooperation tool that provides education to international security personnel as part of the global effort to combat terrorism while reducing stress on U.S. forces.

"We are creating a coalition to go after terrorism. We are asking the United Nations and every other organization you can think of...to join us once and for all in a great coalition to conduct a campaign against terrorists who are conducting war against civilized people."

Colin Powell, September 2001

"CTFP is an important U.S. engagement instrument that provides tangible contributions to build and sustain global partnerships that counter terrorism."

*Ambassador Dell L. Dailey, Coordinator for Counterterrorism
U.S. State Department, November 2007*

The CTFP's goals are to (1) build and strengthen a global network of combating terrorism (CbT) experts and practitioners at the operational and strategic levels, (2) build and reinforce the CbT capabilities of partner nations through operational and strategic-level education, (3) contribute to efforts to counter ideological support to terrorism, and (4) provide the U.S. military with a flexible and proactive program that can respond to emerging CbT requirements.

To achieve these goals, the CTFP provides combatant commanders with resources to foster regional cooperation and to professionalize foreign combating terrorism capabilities. The program provides targeted combating terrorism education to key senior and mid-level military officials, ministry of defense civilians, and other foreign government security officials. Personnel recommended for the CTFP by the combatant commands are expected to have a positive impact on their country's ability to cooperate with the United States in the war on terrorism.

The Assistant Secretary of Defense for Global Security Affairs (ASD GSA) provides policy oversight. The Defense Security Cooperation Agency (DSCA) provides financial management. CTFP requires approval from the Chiefs of Missions prior to any event or engagement.

This report accounts for the expenditure of appropriated funds during Fiscal Year 2007 (FY07) for the CTFP, including: the countries that received CTFP funding; the total amount of funding provided for each country; and the educational courses attended by the foreign officers and officials. The report also includes an assessment of the effectiveness of the program and a review of efforts to improve it.

As detailed in the report, the CTFP sponsored multiple combating terrorism educational events in FY07. These events involved 2,737 security personnel from 115 countries, all with the goal of meeting the needs identified by the regional combatant commanders.

The contents of this report are unclassified and reflect data gathered from multiple sources, including Security Assistance Officers, Combatant Commanders, and other DoD entities.

HIGHLIGHTS

In FY07, CTFP engaged a total of 2,737 security personnel from 115 countries. In addition to training conducted inside the United States, this included multiple training events in foreign countries, and 10 events at DoD Regional Centers.

I. REGIONAL DEFENSE COMBATING TERRORISM FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM CONTRIBUTIONS TO THE GLOBAL WAR ON TERRORISM (GWOT)

A. OVERVIEW

The Regional Defense Combating Terrorism Fellowship Program (CTFP) is a security cooperation tool that directly supports the war on terrorism by providing combating terrorism (CbT) education for international military officers, ministry of defense and security officials. The CTFP provides unique engagement and capacity-building opportunities that enable partner countries to address threats of terrorism within their borders and regions and help strengthen support for U.S. and coalition efforts to defeat terrorism.

The CTFP's goals are to:

- (1) build and strengthen a global network of CbT experts and practitioners at the operational and strategic levels;
- (2) build and reinforce the CbT capabilities of partner nations through operational and strategic-level education;
- (3) contribute to efforts to counter ideological support to terrorism; and,
- (4) provide DoD with a flexible and proactive program that can respond to emerging CbT requirements.

"CT Fellowship funds are an integral part of the USPACOM War on Terror Campaign Plan."

RADM Michael C. Tracy, Director of Strategic Planning and Policy, USPACOM, February 2007

The CTFP works hand-in-hand with the Combatant Commands to identify candidates for educational programs and to develop CbT programs specifically tailored to partner nations. Combatant Commands recommend participants to the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) for approval. Target candidates include senior and mid-level military officials, ministry of defense civilians, and other foreign government security officials who could have an impact on their country's ability and willingness to cooperate with the United States in the war on terrorism. CTFP funds these participants to attend programs in the United States and abroad. All candidates are verified and vetted in accordance with Sec. 8160 of the DoD Appropriations Act for Fiscal Year 2007 (P.L. 109-289) (the "Leahy Amendment.")

The CTFP is one of the few U.S. programs that trains a broad range of foreign CbT military officers and government security officials and provides specialized programs to address individual country needs. CTFP programs engage military,

"CTFP has...been one of our most valuable and prolific programs for building partnerships with Pakistan since ...2003 (and) has...increased Pakistan's capabilities to combat terrorism."

Major General James Helmly, US Defense Representative, Pakistan, July 2007

national police, gendarmerie, internal security, border security, and other security officials. As such, the program enables the DoD to implement the President's National Strategy for Combating Terrorism more effectively by providing resources that can be targeted toward integrating the seven elements of national power: military, informational, diplomatic, law enforcement, intelligence, financial, and economic.

"We have experienced great success under the CTFP as a crucial tool in enabling Mexico to counter terrorism threats."

Major General Mark Volcheff, Director of Plans, Policy, Strategy, USNORTHCOM, February 2007

In FY07, 2,737 foreign military and security officials attended CTFP-funded programs in all five Regional Combatant Commands. This included CbT education support to emerging regional and sub-regional organizations and alliances. Regional training events are particularly effective in bringing together security officials from many countries within a given region. Such events are crucial in building a robust network of CbT officials who are familiar with each other and are able to reach out to other organizations and countries to coordinate effectively on CbT issues. The network, as it grows, will become increasingly independent and less reliant on the United States for support.

B. REPORT REQUIREMENTS

Pursuant to Title 10 of the United States Code § 2249c (10 U.S.C. Section 2249c), "not later than December 1 of each year, the Secretary of Defense shall submit to Congress a report on the administration of this section during the fiscal year ended in such year."

This report is submitted by the Department in accordance with 10 U.S.C. Section 2249c:

- (1) A complete accounting of the expenditure of appropriated funds for purposes authorized under subsection (a), including:
 - (A) the countries of the foreign officers and officials for whom costs were paid; and
 - (B) for each such country, the total amount of the costs paid.
- (2) The training courses attended by the foreign officers and officials, including a specification of which, if any, courses were conducted in foreign countries.
- (3) An assessment of the effectiveness of the Regional Defense Combating Terrorism Fellowship Program in increasing the cooperation of the governments of foreign countries with the United States in the global war on terrorism.
- (4) A discussion of any actions being taken to improve the program.

C. SUMMARY OF EXPENDITURES AND TRAINING EVENTS

The following table details CTFP expenditures, by country, within the respective areas of responsibilities of the Combatant Commanders. It also provides the number of different CTFP training events attended, by country, including those events attended in foreign countries, as well as total training events for each category. Expenditures for individual attendance to Regional Center activities are included in the DoD Regional Centers line at the bottom of the chart. Countries that only have expenditures for Regional Center activities are marked by an asterisk(*) in the chart below.

D. PROGRAM ASSESSMENT

PILOT ALUMNI SURVEY

In FY07, the CTFP conducted a pilot alumni survey. The goal of the survey was to conduct an initial assessment of how well the education provided by CTFP helps partner nations be more effective allies in the war on terrorism. Prior to this survey, CTFP had measured its effectiveness primarily by the number of individuals engaged, application of funds in accordance with OSD-level guidance, and anecdotal evidence. The results of the survey will be used to assess the program's success to-date, set benchmarks for future performance, and develop strategies to improve the program. CTFP intends to expand the scope of this survey in FY08.

For the initial assessment, we limited the distribution of the questionnaire to approximately 250 alumni of CTFP's two longest programs, the 10-month International Counter Terrorism Fellows Program (ICT Fellows Program) at the National Defense University (NDU), and the 18-month

Special Operations Master's Degree program at the Naval Postgraduate School (NPS). The alumni come from classes that graduated between December 2003 and May 2007. 116 alumni (62%) responded to the survey.

SURVEY RESULTS

Building and Strengthening a Global Combating Terrorism (CbT) Community

Based on the results of the survey, 88% of respondents maintain contact with their schools, fellow students, and/or U.S. Special Operations or CbT community. Of those, only 44% of the alumni maintain contact through the U.S. CbT community. However, over 90% of respondents expressed a willingness to help facilitate contact between their country and the U.S. CbT community. It is clear that the alumni want to stay engaged with the U.S. CbT community.

From a CTFP alumnus: "It is the USG's duty to engage with those people who have been trained by CTFP. Countries have their own priorities about employment of CTFP trained people which is sometimes other than counter terrorism. These individuals should be engaged by requesting them as liaison officers and to attend various seminars on counter terrorism. Until the USG becomes involved in right utilization and remains engaged, it may prove to be a waste of an effort."

As the program matures and the number of CTFP alumni increases, the CTFP will expand its focus to include the strengthening of the global CbT network through re-engagement of alumni in continuing education events and outreach. The questionnaire also solicited ideas and suggestions from the alumni on what they would find useful in a CTFP newsletter and continuing education events.

Building Partners' Capacity

CTFP targets mid-to-senior level officials that either hold, or are expected to hold, key CbT positions in their countries. One indicator that CTFP is engaging the right population is whether alumni received promotions after their participation in CTFP-funded programs. Excluding respondents who graduated in the month prior to the survey, 74% received promotions since attending the CTFP-funded course.

From a CTFP alumnus: "I was assigned when I came from the NDU as the senior Operations Officer in the Special Ops Command and in beginning of 2007 I have been attached to the Armed Forces as the Private Consultant for the Republican Guard and the Special Forces Commander to assist in the fighting in terrorism."

Whether CTFP alumni participate in or influence their country's CbT-related policy and/or legislation is a reflection not only of CTFP's ability to target the right individuals, but also highlights how the education CTFP provides can directly contribute to building partner capacity. Of the respondents, 57% indicated that they have influenced their country's CbT-related policy or legislation. Many of them attributed the education they received through CTFP to their ability to influence policy.

From a CTFP alumnus: "I have had many opportunities to participate in setting the CT policies (while working at the National Security Council). The knowledge that I got from NDU helped me to understand terrorism and how we could defeat them."

Another indicator of whether CTFP is building our partners' CbT capacity is whether alumni are sharing their experience from NDU or NPS with colleagues in their home country. 100% of respondents have shared their experience. The results from our survey are as follows:

Presentations to colleagues/friends	88%
Conferences and seminars	66%
Presentations to govt representatives	55%
Publications and interviews	32%
Through the internet	18%
Other	12%

Counter and Respond to Terrorism Worldwide

To assess CTFP's impact on efforts to defeat terrorism, alumni were asked whether they feel the education they received at NDU/NPS improved their country's global and/or domestic CbT efforts. 90% of the alumni responded positively. Distribution of positive responses is as follows:

Country's participation in Coalition ops	45%
Domestic insurgents/terrorists	70%
Country's global CbT efforts	85%

From a CTFP alumnus: "In our country which has been a victim of terrorism, the training opened doors for me in terms of being an expert in terrorism analysis. I have been the key sponsor of the CT module in the Defense Staff College. My experience in NDU has enriched my ability to assist in CT efforts for my country."

From a CTFP alumnus: "In my country, most of the governmental organizations don't understand clearly on terrorism and how to fight terrorism. I had many chances to explain war on terrorism and how to defeat them to many concerned organizations. And as a policy planner, I have planned and set for maritime CT exercise at our biggest port."

From a CTFP alumnus: "Although, I am the first and only one to attend the course from my country, my deployment and promotion prospect has a direct bearing to CT. This means that I can bring my training knowledge and experience to bear on my job. I pray that more of my fellow countrymen will have the opportunity that I have, so that together, we can make better and bigger impact of CT."

This initial pilot survey was completed in October 2007. CTFP will use the survey results to set benchmarks for future performance, develop strategies to improve the program, and to develop a follow-on survey.

D. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS

The program's accomplishments in FY07 are best summarized by providing a summary of some regional- and country-specific activities.

REGIONAL- and COUNTRY-SPECIFIC ACTIVITIES

Following on the successful seminars in FY06, CTFP funded a third and fourth joint Marshall Center and Near East South Asia (NESA) Center "Afghanistan-Pakistan Confidence Building Seminar" that brought together senior-level participants from Afghanistan and Pakistan on neutral ground to discuss border security and other issues of mutual interest in the war on terrorism. The seminars continued to build confidence and trust among Afghan and Pakistani officers engaged in the fight against terrorism, which in turn supports U.S. operations in Afghanistan. A fifth follow-on seminar is scheduled for FY08.

In August 2007, CTFP funded a Multilateral Maritime Security Conference in Cebu, Philippines. More than 30 executive-level participants were funded from Indonesia, Malaysia, Philippines, and Brunei. The United States and Australia participated as observers/facilitators for the event. The Special Envoy of the Philippines to the Brunei Indonesia Malaysia Philippines-East Asia Growth Area (BIMP-EAGA) participated in the last day. This event built upon the outcomes of previous conferences held in Honolulu in 2005 and Kuala Lumpur in 2006. Based on the consensus reached in this conference delegates departed with specific tasks within their areas of responsibilities that would improve regional coordination and security.

In August 2007, CTFP funded a Center for Civil Military Relations (CCMR) "Combating Ideological Support for Terrorism" regional training event in Paraguay. Military, police, and government participants from Paraguay, Uruguay, Brazil, and Chile met for five days of facilitated discussions and presentations to build common understanding of the factors that lead to terrorism, to identify regional terrorist threats, and to recognize possible government actions to prevent or contain the spread of terrorist ideology. Two participants were graduates of the CTFP flagship Counter Terrorism Fellowship program at the National Defense University; their involvement improved the level of dialogue. Educating regional partners on how good governance limits the spread of terrorist ideology benefits the United States by encouraging regional security initiatives to combat terrorism. Paraguay's Minister of Defense opened and closed the event.

Following his attendance at a CTFP-funded Intel in Combating Terrorism course at FT Huachuca last year, a Nigerian Colonel approached the U.S. embassy for assistance in developing a similar course for his country. The embassy is moving forward on this request.

In August 2007, CTFP funded a CCMR "Intelligence and Combating Terrorism" training event in Peru. Military, police, and government officials from key security agencies of Peru, Uruguay, Brazil, and Colombia met for five days of facilitated discussions and presentations involved with Legal Frameworks for Intelligence Communities in Democracies, Intelligence as a Profession, Control of Intelligence in Democracies, Terrorism & Organized Crime, Financing of Terrorism and State Responses, Border Security & Terrorism, Intelligence & Public Policy, Tools and Strategies for Fighting Terrorism, and Interagency Cooperation.

In September 2007, CTFP funded a Multilateral Interagency Cooperation Seminar in Bangkok, Thailand. The Seminar included over 90 mid-grade and senior counterterrorism and counterinsurgency practitioners from the defense establishments and civil governments of Thailand, Cambodia, Bangladesh, Philippines, Malaysia, Nepal, Singapore, Indonesia, and the United States. Participants shared insights, established relationships and explored areas of common ground regarding the threats posed by terrorism and insurgency. This conference helped highlight the common issues that are encountered by the regional participants and helped to build a greater regional network of counterinsurgency/counterterrorism practitioners.

In April 2007, CTFP funded a CCMR “Executive Leaders’ Seminar” in Mexico. Senior representatives from the Mexican Army, Navy, and Secretariat of Defense joined representatives from USNORTHCOM for five days of comprehensive presentations and discussions covering border disaster response coordination and interagency cooperation. Educating partner countries on how to respond quickly and effectively to terrorism attacks by re-establishing a safe and secure environment will increase the capacity of governments of foreign countries to cooperate with the United States in the war on terrorism.

In December 2006, CTFP funded a joint event sponsored by the Marshall Center (MC) and the Center for Hemispheric Defense Studies (CHDS) in Trinidad-Tobago. Key military, police, and government officials from security agencies of Caribbean nations were involved in facilitated discussions and presentations of potential terrorism threats, both domestically and internationally, which they could be facing during the World Cricket Cup Games in 2007. This educational and training opportunity provided a common baseline for development of successful campaign plans to thwart these potential threats. The Caribbean agencies continued to work together over the following months; they developed a more comprehensive campaign that incorporated an interagency effort to meet the potential terrorism threats. The Games were a security success.

In September 2007, CTFP worked with the U.S. Department of State’s Office of the Coordinator for Counterterrorism (S/CT) to organize a meeting between CTFP alumni in Colombo, Sri Lanka and the S/CT’s Ambassador Dell Dailey. The response that the Ambassador received from CTFP’s alumni was very positive and similar to results CTFP received through the alumni survey.

E. PROGRAM IMPROVEMENT INITIATIVES

As the CTFP expands and evolves, DoD is continually pursuing initiatives to improve and enhance the program.

UPDATES ON FY07 INITIATIVES

Maintaining and Honing Combating Terrorism Focus: In FY07, CTFP completed its course assessment and provided a list of recommended courses that the Combatant Commands can use when developing CTFP-funded engagement strategies. The recommended courses contain content that meets the standards of the CTFP for strategic and operational level focus and on combating terrorism through interagency coordination.

Coordination with State Department on Leahy Vetting: CTFP continues to maintain a close working relationship with the Political Military Bureau (PM) at the State Department on human rights vetting and coordination; every CTFP participant must pass human rights vetting to be accepted. In FY07, CTFP worked together with PM in updating the recently released “Compliance with the State and DOD Leahy Amendments: A Guide to the Vetting Process.”

Synchronizing CTFP With DoD’s Capacity Building Efforts: As part of the FY07 reorganization of the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy, OSD leadership recognized the unique aspects of CTFP and assigned overall responsibility for the program to the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Partnership Strategy, within the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Global Security Affairs (GSA). As a part of this new office, CTFP is better positioned to complement and reinforce DoD’s overall capacity building efforts and security cooperation programs.

Quadrennial Defense Review (QDR) and Related Key DoD Documents Alignment: CTFP aligned its FY08 budget to ensure that the program’s engagement strategy is in support of key DoD documents, including the 2006 QDR and the Security Cooperation Guidance. This will ensure that the program continues to provide targeted combating terrorism education to critical partner nations.

NEW INITIATIVES FOR FY08

Improved Coordination with State Department: In cooperation with DoD’s Support to Public Diplomacy Office, CTFP has strengthened its relations with State Department’s Office of the Coordinator for Counterterrorism (S/CT). Following on an initial successful meeting between Ambassador Dailey and CTFP alumni from Sri Lanka (see section D, Program Accomplishments), CTFP intends to repeat similar meetings between the Ambassador and alumni throughout FY08. These meetings will not only strengthen relations with CTFP alumni, but improve coordination with S/CT. CTFP is also working with S/CT to educate and inform U.S. embassies on the goals and education opportunities of CTFP.

Continuing Education: Since it was established in FY02, CTFP’s primary focus has been on funding strategic and operational CbT courses and engaging a number of key CbT officials in partner nations. As the program matures and the base of CTFP alumni increases, CTFP will continue its efforts to re-engage alumni, to strengthen the global CbT community and reinforce the initial education provided to alums through continuing education events. CTFP is working with NDU and NPS to develop and implement continuing education events in FY08.

F. SUMMARY

The Regional Defense Combating Terrorism Fellowship Program has become a valuable tool in the global fight against terrorism and fills a crucial void in U.S. efforts to provide targeted international combating terrorism education. Building on previous efforts, the CTFP made significant strides during Fiscal Year 2007 to develop and reinforce the combating terrorism capabilities of our partner nations, and to strengthen a global network of combating terrorism experts committed to the fight against terrorists and terrorist organizations. Senior DoD and DOS officials clearly see the value of a global CTFP network. Recent survey results show that CTFP-funded combating terrorism education has been beneficial to partner nations. The close coordination among OSD, the Combatant Commands, and S/CT have turned the program into a strategic tool in the war on terrorism that effectively supports the efforts of regional combatant commanders in accomplishing their missions.

II. COUNTRY TRAINING ACTIVITIES

The following tables present a breakout of individual CTFP-funded education activities. The tables are assembled in alphabetical order, by country, and by respective combatant command regions.

Reading the Data

- All data in the report is as of October 1, 2007.
- The training activities and dollar amounts include funds expended to support all course costs, travel and living allowances, and medical expenditures. The FY07 dollars and training reported DO NOT reflect the FY07 CTFP allocation level for each country because CTFP funds were re-allocated throughout the year, based on changing priorities and evolving requirements.
- Country participation in CTFP-funded Regional Center activities is listed in the country charts below. Country participation is listed without specific dollar amounts attached. CTFP-funding for Regional Center activities, including country participation, is fully accounted for in Section A “DoD Regional Centers” below.
- A list of acronyms used in the following tables can be found in Section G.
